Lycée Français Charles de Gaulle is a French school, based in London. Founded in 1915, it provides classes for students aged 3-18 in French & English. This prestigious institution has been using Bodet's clock and class change system since 2005.

Frederic Lavocat, Facilities Manager, at Lycée Français Charles de Gaulle explains the benefits of using Bodet's clock and class change system.

A complete solution for schools

"Clock and class change systems are essential for a school environment to enhance punctuality and make sure children benefit from all their learning time", says Frederic.

Lycée Français Charles de Gaulle has been very satisfied with the Bodet's clock and class change systems. In 2013 they installed new bells throughout the school to make sure all their classes run precisely on time. In addition, they wanted to be able to make more announcements using their class change system.

"One of our requirements was to be able to handle any emergency situations that arise. We felt the security of the children could be improved by using the class change system. We needed to broadcast the right message for the right situation. Bodet's solution enables emergency messages to be played across the premises. It's very easy to incorporate your own announcement in a simple mp3 format", explains Frederic.

A flexible clock and class change system

"When we decided to upgrade our class change system, we had a look at several suppliers. We decided to choose Bodet as the system is easy to use and it can be linked to Bodet's clock system. We also had an excellent relationship with Bodet. We have been working together for many years."

"I am really satisfied with the system and I would not hesitate to recommend it to other schools" concludes Frederic.
